MOOG, INC. VS. SKYRYSE, INC. ET AL 1 13:39:11 2 Now, turning to my July 22nd decision, I hope I was self explanatory. I'm sure, knowing you all, 3 13:39:20 that there will be some discussion as to what I 4 13:39:25 intended, but here is what I do intend. I recognize 13:39:29 5 6 that everybody is interested in moving this case along 13:39:34 7 as quickly as possible, as am I, but I think it has to 13:39:37 13:39:42 be moved along in a manner that is as efficient as 9 possible, recognizing considerations of proportionality 13:39:49 and so forth. And for that reason, I think, as I said 10 13:39:53 13:40:01 11 in my decision, that I'm going to sequence discovery. 12 And I want to focus, first and foremost, on Moog's 13:40:04 identification in a considerable level of detail, as I 13 13:40:10 13:40:15 14 discussed in my decision, of the trade secrets which it 15 considers to be at issue for purposes of the preliminary 13:40:19 injunction hearing. Once those are identified, then the 13:40:22 16 parties can proceed to drill down further both in terms 13:40:27 17 18 of their research as to whether a particular item 13:40:33 claimed to be a trade secret is, perhaps, known 13:40:37 19 13:40:41 20 elsewhere or whether it has been properly protected as a 13:40:46 21 trade secret, but unless and until we get to that identification, I don't see the point in proceeding on 13:40:51 22 23 other discovery. And I recognize that this may cause 13:40:54 24 some further delay, but I think that is unavoidable 13:40:58 25 under the circumstances. And I reread the transcript of 13:41:02

MOOG, INC. VS. SKYRYSE, INC. ET AL
13:50:25
        2
                I mean, for example, Ms. Andoh did say at, you know, at the July 15th proceeding, that you're dealing 3
13:50:28
            with potentially a huge number of trade secrets in this 13:50:32
            case. I think she mentioned the figure of a million.
13:50:35
        5
            But, obviously, nobody is going to go to Judge Vilardo
13:50:42
        6
        7
            on a preliminary injunction hearing with a million trade
13:50:46
13:50:50
            secrets. You can do that, but I can predict your 9
            reception would not be overly favorable. So, they are 13:50:53
            going to have to be culled down in some fashion into a, 13:50:57
       10
       11
            you know, a coherent presentation to Judge Vilardo.
13:51:03
            But, again, my hope is that when that time comes for 13:51:08
       12
            Moog to identify the trade secrets on which it will seek 13:51:12
       13
            relief at the preliminary injunction hearing, that it 13:51:17
       14
       15 will be, you know a reasonably narrow scope. So, I 13:51:21
            guess I'll throw it back to counsel for Moog and Skyryse 13:51:26
       16
       17
            just to react to Mr. Green's suggestion about what will 13:51:33
            doubtless be incorporated in a letter that he is going 13:51:40
       18
            to be submitting, either a complete or partial stay.
13:51:45
       19
       20
            Anybody want to react to that?
13:51:49
13:51:52
       21
                        MR. LUMISH: Maybe I should go fist.
                         MAGISTRATE JUDGE MCCARTHY:
                                                      Excuse me, Mr.
13:51:53
       22
       23
            Lumish, somebody just said before. Mr. Green?
13:51:54
13:51:58
       24
                        MR. GREEN: Yes, your Honor.
       25
                        MAGISTRATE JUDGE MCCARTHY:
13:51:59
                                                      Back to Mr.
